

The Builder

You are a practical experimenter and have the ability to take students through a reflective process of building artefacts to retain learning.

At work

You enjoy guiding students through tasks that build up their learning on a subject, such as creating e-Books and e-Portfolios.

At home

You probably enjoy revisiting your personal artefacts to improve them. For you, the artefact is never final, and can always be improved!

Favorite SLS tool

Like The Curator, you love to Star resources to build a collection of artefacts and resources that you can present to students during lessons.

Helping others

Perhaps you've built an e-Book or embedded artefacts like Padlet in an SLS lesson. Inspire your colleagues by sharing them in the Community Gallery!

SLS Recommends

Embed a Google site that you frequently update as a Class Group resource. This Google site can host your students' individual digital portfolios, such as Book Creator, that can be published for all to view. Find out more.
